What does AVOi mean?

The name AVOi stand for Arbeits Vermittlungs Offensive innovativ (Labour Placement Offensive/Innovative) and is a cooperation of the “Agentur für Arbeit”* in Hanau and the Wili GmbH. The aim of the project is to support unemployed job-seekers with the latest technology and innovative ways for gaining a new job.

While an employer is visually connected to an AVOi consultant and being presented the application profile of a candidate, all aspects can be discussed in a parallel telephone conversation.

Within this conversation the employer is getting a first important impression of the applicant and his qualifications. This way of presenting applicants is saving the employers valuable time for there is no need to check hundreds of applications. The AVOi recruitment consultant also invites the chosen applicants for an interview, coordinates the appointments and provides the applicants´ complete data via email or telefax. For a remarkable applicant the amount of prequalified interview appointments will be increased.

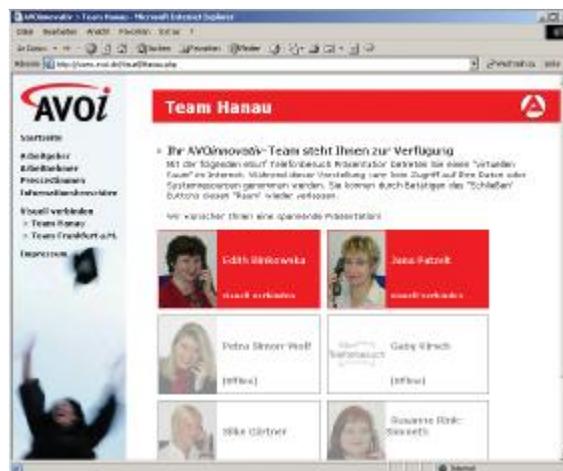

(*) the German equivalent of the British Department of Employment and Pensions / Job Centre

How does it work?

The AVOi project team arranges a telephone appointment with the Human Resources Manager.

The HR Manager starts the connection on „www.avoi.de“ and chooses to get visually connected with a consultant. The best matching candidates will be selected and presented with their personal data. In case of positive reaction of the HR Manager an interview will be arranged immediately.

The AVOi recruitment consultants ask for a feedback from the employer as well as from the candidate.
